These Boots are made on the

McCOMBER Patent Last,

CARD. TO THE LADIES.

I am now manufacturing French Kid Button Boots, the best to be found in New England. These boots are really a Custom Made boot for $6.00.

The great trouble with the French Kid Boots made for the retail trade is that the uppers do not give satisfaction. One wears out much faster than the other, and frequently one part of an upper wears rough while the rest remains smooth, simply because no care is taken in selecting the parts of a skin from which to cut the uppers. Every lady has learned this from experience.

Every part of an upper should be cut from one skin and the parts so selected that the upper will wear smooth all over. I am making the finest French uppers that can be produced, fitted in the neatest manner possible, thereby turning out a faultless boot, constructed on the McComber patent last (improved), which is so strongly recommended by every one that has worn boots made on this last, and which justly merits the praise given it. The bottom stock of these boots is the finest that can be selected. Made in four widths, and for style, fit, comfort and durability their equal cannot be produced. Every pair is warranted in every respect, and I would be pleased to have the Ladies call and examine these goods, whether they wish to purchase or not.

I also make Ladies' Boots to measure when desired.

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER

This elegant preparation is prepared from the true Jamaica Ginger, combined with choice aromatics and genuine French brandy, and is vastly superior to every other Extract or Essence of Ginger before the public—all of which are prepared with alcohol by the old process.

CHOLERA MORBUS,

Cramps, Pains, Diarrhea and Dysentery, are instantly relieved by it. It will render an attack of Cholera Morbus impossible, if taken when the symptoms of this dangerous complaint first manifest themselves.

CRAMPS AND PAINS

Whether produced by indigestion, improper food, change of water or diet, too free indulgence in ice water, exposure to sudden changes of temperature, are immediately relieved by it. One ounce added to a gallon of

ICE WATER

And sweetened, forms a mixture which, as a cooling, healthy, and refreshing Summer Beverage has no equal. Barrels of ice water, prepared in this way, may be drank without the slightest injury, and happy is the man who finds in this a substitute for spirituous liquors. Its value to the Farmer, Mechanic and Laborer cannot be over estimated. It is so cheap as to be within the reach of all, so finely flavored as to be enjoyed by lovers of the choicest liquors.

DYSPEPSIA,

Flatulency, Sluggish Digestion, want of Tone and Activity in the Stomach and Bowels, Oppression after Eating, are sure to be relieved by a single dose taken after each meal. A great want exists for a

RESTORATIVE STIMULANT

Free from serious objections, yet palatable, even inviting to the sensitive palate, which will create no morbid appetite for itself, and operate as an assistant to digestion, as well as perform the functions of a stimulant, such we confidently believe is to be found in

SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER

An elegant combination of the True Jamaica Ginger with the choicest Aromatics. It is beyond all comparison the most healthy, invigorating tonic and stimulant before the public. It is earnestly recommended to the weak and nervous, to those recovering from debilitating diseases, and to the aged, to whom it imparts warmth and vigor. It is invaluable to the

INTEMPERATE

In assisting them to overcome a morbid appetite for intoxicants. Taken by one of confirmed habit it will allay thirst, generate a healthy flow of the gastric juices, thereby furnishing the proper solvent for food, and permit, by taking the place of intoxicants, and assist, by its renovating action on the system, the complete restoration of the appetite, health and strength.

$100 WILL BE PAID for a bottle of any other Extract or Essence of Jamaica Ginger if found to equal it in flavor, purity, and prompt medicinal effect. Largest, Cheapest and Best. Take no other until you have given it a trial.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine.

Androscoggin.

The Auburn people are petitioning for a flag station on the P. & K. railroad at the west end of the bridge over the Little Androscoggin river.

The Lewiston Journal learns that Judge Knowlton, who has been confined to his house for several weeks, is improving, and it is hoped that he will be able to be out in a few days.

The Lewiston police on Sunday seized at the residence of Michael Egan two five-gallon kegs and one two gallon jug. At the Gas House Patch they found a gallon jug concealed in a wood pile. They also seized Mrs. White Dunn's stock in trade.

Cumberland.

The Press says that the man Miller of Birch Island who left his home a few days since so secretly that he has since died, was lodged in Portland jail last Saturday. He says but little about the sad affair, but complains that his head hurts badly. He desires to have the ablest counsel to defend him.

The dwelling house of Mr. Littlefield on Great Chebeague Island was burned Sunday afternoon. The furniture was mostly saved.

Over sixty arrests have been made by the Portland police since Saturday morning.

Franklin.

The blueberries on the mountains of Franklin county shared the same fate as the apple crop, the all-devouring caterpillar took off the leaves and the berries failed to grow.

Somerset.

Most farmers in the vicinity of New Portland are done haying. All that are not done will finish this week. The crop is full an average one, and is secured in good condition. The Dead River country, including the plantations of Dead river, Flagstaff, Bigelow, Carpentown and Kennebago, and the town of Eustis, began their hay harvest this week. This is decidedly a grass season. Judging from the appearance of the fields in view of the road, the grass on that side of the river is not so good as it was last year. Crops of all kinds in northern Somerset are promising, ... is especially good at this time.

Waldo.

According to the Advertiser tramps are prowling about Belfast begging, breaking into houses, etc. The tramp is becoming such an instigated nuisance that the example of Portland in arresting all such characters as vagrants will find many followers.

Washington.

Early Sunday morning the store of Chase, Barker & Co. of Calais, was entered through a window and pistols and pocket-knives stolen to the amount of about $100. No trace of the thieves yet discovered. The theft has been kept quiet in the hope that the parties would betray themselves.

York.

A man giving his name as James J. Bowker, of Saco was arrested in Boston, Tuesday, for attempting to sell a forged note.

CHINA GRASS IN ALGERIA.—The Correspondance Algerienne gives an interesting account of the textile plants of Algeria, among which the well-known ramie or China grass promises to be the most profitable. Already in 1860 the attention of colonists was drawn to this beautiful fibre, and great efforts are being made to promote its cultivation. America and the south of France now possess great tracts of ramie, but so great is the demand for the fabrics manufactured from it that the markets cannot be supplied. The stalks must be stripped in their green state, for China grass is not steeped like flax and hemp, and for this purpose a new machine has been dispatched to Algeria. If successful it is proposed to exhibit the machine publicly on the Place du Gouvernement for a week, and one of the leading capitalists of the place has offered to further the scheme by large purchases. The exquisitely fine muslins and cambrics made of China grass are tolerable familiar here, though their costliness has hitherto placed them within the reach of the rich only, but there is every likelihood of cheaper fabrics in a few years.

A PRETTY INCIDENT OF THE INGLESIDE" FIRE.—The day that Ingleside was burned, a nest with two birds was found in the top of a small spruce tree that stood near the awning at the top of the steps in front of the house. The morning after the fire, Mr. Corey, who has had the care of the grounds about Ingleside, went to look after the birds and found them uninjured. A charred piece of shingle had fallen from the blazing roof and rested on some twigs above the nest, and this helped to shelter the little ones from the heat, which was sufficiently intense to set fire to the row of posts beside the tree. While Mr. Corey was examining the birds their mother came and lured them into the fields below. "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing?"—[Springfield Republican.

BOYS WHO WORK THEIR WAY.—It is the boys who work their way, that win the great prizes of life. Imagine a set of boys who are to contest in a boat-race, having their boat always rowed for them, while they sit and look on! Could they hope to contend successfully with a crew of boys who had faithfully trained for the race? It is the same in all the contests of life. The boys who do the work which develops their minds and muscles, and which gives them purity and strength of character as men, always carry off the prizes.

Bangor, July 1 1875

THE CAUCUSES.

The Republican voters of Bangor are reminded that this evening they are requested to meet in the several places for holding ward meetings for the purpose of choosing delegates to represent them at the District and County Conventions, which are to be held in this city on the 11th and 12th instants. It is to be hoped that there will be a full attendance and undoubtedly there will be as the matter of choosing a Representative of the Fourth Congressional District is one which has already awakened an unusual degree of interest. In the matter of choice it is to be hoped too that a strong delegation of our best citizens will be selected to represent Bangor and that they will use their influence for the best interests of the District. The importance of electing a sound Republican Congressman need not be argued at this time. As all Republicans appreciate it and will doubtless so act that from among the prominent and available men of the party will be selected such an one as will merit the confidence of the majority, which has heretofore been given those selected as candidates for Congressional honors.

Upon the delegates from the various sections of the District will fall this duty of making such a selection, and the voice of Bangor Republicans can emanate only from her apportioned number of representatives at the Conventions. For this reason the attendance should be full and the gentlemen chosen at the caucuses those in whom the Republican voters of the city have every confidence that they will be alive to the very important duty which they will be called upon to perform in behalf of their fellow-citizens.

DELEGATES ELECTED. Sebec has chosen Jason Hassell and Joseph Morrill as delegates to the District Congressional Convention, and Wellington, Albert Allen, all of whom are said to favor the nomination of Mr. Powers. Medway chooses independent delegates, and we are informed that the delegate chosen in Lowell is favorable to Mr. Powers, instead of Mr. Plaisted as we were previously informed.

A Washington special says it is now certain that the excess of government receipts over the expenditures for the last fiscal year will be at least $15,000,000, and may reach $17,000,000. This improved condition of the treasury annihilates the predictions so persistently made by inflationists that the government would be exhibited in a state of bankruptcy by the balance sheet of the last fiscal year.

The Portland Argus says the country has suffered enough from stupidity; and yet supports the ridiculous military "orders" of General Roberts and the Democratic State Committee of Maine.—[Boston Journal.

Hon. R. B. Roosevelt said the other day at the anti-Tammany meeting in New York that nobody not a time-server, not a fool could be heard in the councils of the Democratic party as represented by that organization. No freedom of opinion was permitted, no utterance of free thought was tolerated. The same old ring existed as of old, only under a different name. Instead of a Tweed Ring it was a Kelley Ring, equally dangerous to the rights and interests of the people.

The New York Evening Post agrees that Mr Adams is right when he says that this nation needs a revival of religion. Such a need always exists, but especially at this time. If for nothing else, to awaken the people to the dishonesty of the financial notions put forth in the Ohio Democratic platform, and to the legal iniquity enjoyed by Tweed and the Canal Ring."

The Jackson, Miss., Times, speaking of the Democratic party in that State, says thousands of them proclaim their purpose and determination to prevent as many colored citizens from voting at the next election for Republicans as they possibly can. In some quarters there is a bold avowal of intention to accomplish this object by a resort, if necessary, to violence, intimidation and fraud.

In Chicago on Sunday afternoon, at the Unity church organ exhibition concert, Miss Anna Louise Cary, who appeared for the last time in America previous to her departure for Russia, completely broke down for the first time in her life. Her third number, Mendelssohn's beautiful aria, "O Rest in the Lord," was encored, when she responded with "Sweet Home." She had sung but the first line when she burst into tears, retired, and had a good old fashioned cry which did her so much good that she reappeared in the "Angel Trio," and acquitted herself well.

With regard to the vote in Kentucky on Monday on a Constitutional Convention if a majority of all the qualified voters in the State vote this year in favor of calling a Convention, the question will have to be resubmitted in 1877, and, if again receives the approval of a majority of all the voters of the State, the members of the Convention will be elected in August, 1878, and assembled in the fall of that year.

Gov. Allen gives as a satisfactory explanation of his change from hard money to rags that "the man who places himself athwart the popular current will be carried away." And yet across the river in Kentucky the Democracy are howling for "measures, not men."

The drive of Texas cattle bound for Kansas and a market may be said to have passed from Texas and the herds are now held on the range in Kansas sold to feeders, contractors, or others, or sent to the Northern or Eastern markets. The total number of cattle driven North this season is, as shown by the reports published, 151,618 including all classes of Texas beef. In 1874 the total drive out of Texas amounted, in round numbers, to 166,000 or 14,000 more than have thus far this season passed over the trail. The great part of this drive last year was over by the first of July, the heaviest having passed between April 15 and June 10. After July 1 about one-quarter of the total drive passed Fort Worth. These facts—together with the other fact that large numbers of cattle have been driven from the Mexican frontier to North western Texas, to avoid raiders, and are now on the range from which they can be put on the trail northward, as soon as the condition of the markets shall fully warrant—sustains the prediction that the drive of this year will exceed that of last.

In his last letter from Europe, ex-Secretary McCulloch rehearses the abundant proofs that the payment of the principal and interest of the five-twenties was intended to be paid in coin, and makes perfectly conclusive what few honest men of intelligence ever doubted. He then adds:

And now, is it not the dictate of patriotism that all citizens of the United States should do what they can to improve the national credit instead of depreciating it so that the burden of this national debt may be diminished not only by payments, but by a reduction of the rate of interest which it bears? I have said what I have upon this subject not because there is any danger that the Government will ever violate its faith to its creditors, but because such resolutions as were adopted last year by a convention in Indiana, and the unwise utterances of some of our journals are used by foreigners who are hostile to the United States to depreciate our national credit, thus rendering it more difficult to rapidly fund our six per cent bonds in bonds bearing a lower rate of interest. A reduction in the rate of interest in the United States is greatly to be desired, and a reduction of the rate which the Government is paying would tend directly to bring this about. Hence it is important as well for the diminution of the public debt as for the benefit of our people in their private transactions that the national credit should be placed on the highest possible basis. Can there be any doubt therefore as to what should be the position of all good citizens upon a question of so great importance?"

The returns of the Bureau of Statistics for the last fiscal year show a considerable falling off in the aggregate foreign trade. The total amount of goods imported was $533,000,309 against $567,406,342 in the fiscal year 1873-4, showing a decrease in the merchandise imports of $34,406,033. The exports of domestic produce and of foreign merchandise, expressed in specie value, amounted to $513,343,018, compared with $586,284,040 in 1873-4—a reduction of $72,938,422, or at the rate of twelve and one-fourth per cent. It must be remembered that the shipments of domestic produce that year were extraordinary, exceeding largely those of any previous year. The specie movement included in this calculation, the rate of decrease is almost equal between the inward and the outward movements of commerce. An interesting feature connected with the comparison is the fact that the two years have been affected by the panic, and taking an average of these two years it is found that the total imports have been $574,900,000, and the exports (specie included), $628,700,000. Taking the five years next preceding the panic the yearly average of the imports for that period is found to be $549,000,000 and of the exports $463,000,000, thus the average of the last two years shows an increase over the yearly average of the five years preceding the panic of $25,000,000 in the imports and $165,000,000 in the exports. These figures do not suit the croakers at all.

A sprightly lady correspondent of the Boston Courier, writing from Brunswick, gave some entertaining gossip concerning the early days of two well known literary characters: "Not far from the hotel, and opposite the College green is the old home of Longfellow, now the residence of President Chamberlain. Here the poet came with his young wife immediately after his first marriage; here he wrote many of those sweet early poems, and the room where he wrote them is entirely unchanged since the days when the shadows of the fitful fire-light's dancing upon its walls aroused his dreamy fancies. It is a square low-ceiled room, with a high, wooden mantelpiece, and deep fire-place, and a few weeks ago he sat once more within its well-remembered walls himself and looked from the windows where he used to watch the lamps of the village gleam through the rain and the mist, with moistened eye. A few steps beyond is the house where Mrs Stowe wrote 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' (Sometimes when the children were too noisy to be endurable, they say, (and there was such a brood of them under the little brown cottage), she retired to one of the college buildings, and in the quiet of an upper room, wove the chain of her wonderful story link by link."

We have a little sermon to preach to the Independent Voters. It shall be short and sweet. You have been petted, patted on the back, and most amiably talked to by the Democracy for your independence of party, your "putting right above partisanship," and all that. You have, no doubt, done much to secure needed reform in the Republican party. But you expect no reform in the Democratic party. Look at Ohio! Behold Senator Thurman, by all odds, the most eminent Democrat in his State or in the West. He acknowledges that the party platform is unsound, unworthy of his support; that its dogmas are contrary to true Democracy and subversive of the national honor. Was there ever a better place for Independent voters to come in than among honest Democrats of Ohio? Does Thurman recommend independent voting? Not a bit of it. He goes the ticket; he swallows it whole hog, hide, bristles, tail, and all. Independent voting must all be by Republicans, you see. Independent voting and Democracy are utterly inconsistent with each other. In the Republican party there is liberty, the right to criticise, and the reserved right to bolt. Voting of the sort in Democracy. To be a Democrat is to be a partisan slave. And here endeth the first lesson.—Washington Chronicle.

The Baltimore Gazette (Dem.) finds nothing in Senator Thurman's latest speech to qualify in any degree what it has said of his position heretofore. It says: "There may be a double meaning put upon the utterances of the convention by word-jugglers, but the Ohio platform has but one construction with people of rich or low degree, and that is inflation. When Mr. Thurman commits himself to the side he has chosen, he deliberately accepts the risk of committing his party to false principles in the national contest. Democratic victory in Ohio might bring about a result so deplorable, but the danger would be so imminent that many as good Democrats as Mr. Thurman will not share in the responsibility of securing it."

The first speech of Governor Hayes, of Ohio, contrasts very pleasantly with the stale utterances of his Democratic competitor. Gov Allen in his new character as a soft-money apostle, rants and roars and makes a spectacle of himself generally. Gov. Hayes' quality can be judged by these sample sentences: "An irredeemable and inflated paper currency promotes speculation and extravagance, and, at the same time, discourages legitimate business, honest labor and economy. It dries up the sure sources of individual and public prosperity. Overtrading and fast living always go with it. It stimulates the desire to incur debt, it causes high rates of interest, it increases importations from abroad; it has no fixed value, it is liable to frequent and great fluctuations, thereby rendering every pecuniary engagement precarious, and disturbing all existing contracts and expectations. It is the parent of panics."

WASHINGTON.
Line and Staff Officers in the Navy. A Difference Settled

Washington, Aug. 5. The Secretary of the Navy has issued a general order which definitely settles the long pending differences between line and staff officers with regard to rank. The Secretary quotes the law regarding commanding officers, and gives his official construction of it in order to remove misunderstanding. The following are the principal points of the order. Officers entrusted with the command of vessels of which no naval officers entrusted with the command of vessels of war, or naval stations, or with the command or direction of any military expedition or duty, whatever their rank, must while properly in such command or direction, have full command authority and precedence over all officers and persons, of whatever rank, serving in such vessel, station or expedition, or in the execution of such duty. In the case of death, disability or absence of an officer in military command or direction, this command and precedence, with all its authority and precedence devolves and rests upon the line officer next in rank who may be present. Officers of the Staff Corps of the Navy will, on all occasions be treated with the same respect as officers of corresponding rank in the Line not in command, under like circumstances. No officer of any grade of the Navy is authorized by virtue of his own rank or authority to give any order or grant any privilege, permission or liberty to his senior in rank of any corps, nor is any senior officer required to receive such from his junior, unless such junior is at the time in command of the vessel or station to which the senior is attached. The efficiency of military organization requires of the commanding authorities, besides the general duties of command and direction, the additional duties of organization police and inspection, all these appertain to and go with the command. For the relief of the commanding officer they are usually entrusted in their details to subordinates but they are performed by his authority and under his direction. On shipboard the Secretary of the Navy, by authority of law, designates the senior line officer to perform these duties in addition to the ordinary duties assigned to him as such line officer attached to the ship. The officer so designated is called for the time being, the aid or executive of the commanding officer. This is not a new rank, nor has the officer by virtue of the title, or in consequence of the detail, any new or independent authority. The officer in command of a ship of war is not authorized to delegate his power except for the carrying out of the details of the general duties to be performed by his authority. Every officer in charge of a department, has of course the general right at all proper times to communicate and confer directly with the responsible commanding officer concerning any matter relating to his department and his duty to do so is absolute whenever he thinks it necessary for the good of his department or public service.

THE INDIANS.
Don't Want to Go.

Washington, Aug. 5. Indian Agent Howarth at Fort Sill, says the Kiowas and Comanches don't want to go to Florida and asks if they shall be compelled to go.

The Investigation into the Alleged Frauds

New York, Aug. 5. A special from Cheyenne states that the Indian frauds investigating committee find much difficulty in getting any one to testify in relation to the Indian service, as those having facts are interested in not divulging them. Postwick, who was Government storekeeper under agent Saville, was ever anxious to testify, and did so, but his testimony proved very unreliable and it was discovered that he was in the employ of contractor McCann. The new Commissioners had not arrived and no official information had been received of their appointment. The Commissioners were to start the 2d inst. for Fort Laramie. Twenty-one cars were then standing on the track at an expense of $105 per day to the Government for detention, all loaded with stores for the Red Cloud Agency by contractor McCann. Some of the stores had been there since July 1st, and McCann is at Washington.

THE WEATHER.

War Dep't, Office Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (1 A. M.)

Probabilities.

For New England, generally clear and warmer weather during the day, with increasing southeast to southwest winds and falling barometer, possibly followed by rain during the night.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN.
Duncan, Sherman & Co.'s Letters of Credit in Europe.

London, Aug. 5. The officials of the Union Bank say that no arrangements have been made with that institution for the redemption of Duncan, Sherman & Co.'s letters of credit in the hands of travellers. Negotiations have been pending since the failure, but are not completed, and the longer they are postponed the less probability of a successful [illegible] over one thousand holders of the suspended firm's letters of credit have been heard from in Germany alone—many of them utterly destitute and compelled to apply to the local authorities or to the American Consuls for relief. One lady, a resident of Massachusetts, had but 30 francs in money when she heard of the failure. The American and English people where she was staying subscribed sufficient funds to pay her expenses to Hamburg, from which place she took a steerage passage home. Appeals for aid from persons holding these letters came from all sections. A document stating the facts and denouncing the house is preparing for publication.

DENMARK.
Death of Hans Christian Andersen

Copenhagen, Aug. 5. Hans Christian Andersen died of a cancer. There is universal mourning in Denmark. Deputations from various parts of the country and elsewhere in Europe will attend the funeral.

JAPAN.
The Negotiations with Corea.

San Francisco, Aug. 5. Dates from Yokohama of the 18th ult. state that negotiations with Corea have suddenly assumed a less friendly character, and many Japanese officials have been recalled. A rumor of an impending war is prevalent, but thus far no such decision has been made by the Japanese Government.

CHINA.
Rumored assaults on Foreigners.

San Francisco, Aug. 5. Steamship City of Peking from China via Japan, brings Hong Kong dates to July 10th and Shanghai 9th. There has been renewed assaults upon foreigners in Peking. The last attack was made on an attache of the German Legation, who while on a scientific expedition with some companions, 40 miles from the capitol, was severely beaten and robbed of valuable astronomical instruments.

IRELAND.
The O'Connell Centenary

Dublin, Aug. 5. The celebration of the 100th anniversary of the birth-day of Daniel O'Connell began here to-day, and will continue three days. This morning there was a religious ceremonial in the cathedral. Cardinal Manning, assisted by Irish and other Catholic prelates. This afternoon Oratorio of Elijah will be sung in the Exhibition Palace, and in the evening a concert of Irish music, when a centenary ode will be recited. Houses are decorated with banners, garlands and mottoes, and there is a great display of the green. The following members of Parliament attended as representatives of the Catholic Union; Dease, McCarthy, Moore, O'Leary, O'Reilly and Smyth, the bishops of Basle and Nantes, Prince Edward Radzwelli of Prussen, and Dr. Lingen, members of the German Parliament, Revs. Rinaldi and Vantry of Rome, Dr. Boel, the Pope's chamberlain, and M. Falleri, a member of Parliament. Illness in the family of Lord Hagan may prevent his delivering the oration to-morrow in Sackville street, in which case it will be published and distributed.

Dr. Croke the new archbishop of Cashel, preached at the religious ceremonial in the cathedral this morning on "O'Connell, the Liberator." Four archbishops, forty bishops and five hundred priests participated in the ceremonies, which were imposing. The cathedral was densely crowded.

Prospects of a Disturbance

New York, Aug. 5. The Telegram publishes the following despatch from Dublin. It is the general belief now that there will be no disturbance during the parade and the ceremonies to-morrow. At least of a partisan nature, unless the accession to the ranks of the processionists from England and Scotland should take offence at the apprehended turn the celebration exercises may be given. The secret meetings of the Amnesty Association Societies have been held in the interest of the National and International ideas, to be represented in the demonstration to-morrow. Strong efforts have been made to induce the Lord Mayor's party to substitute Hon. Isaac Butt in place of Lord O'Hagan, as the orator. A home-rule character would thus have been given the affair, but the efforts failed, and threats are foolishly made of interruption to Lord O'Hagan if he speaks.

Whitman Howard Jordan's Oration on "The New Education."

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, despite the heavy rain, there was a good-sized audience in Town Hall, Orono, to witness the closing exercises of the graduates, this being the first Class-Day in the history of the institution.

At the hour named the members of the class marching arm-in-arm by twos, preceded by Marshal Goodale, entered the hall, the band playing till they had reached the platform and taken seats. The following is the programme:

THE ORATION.

The subject of the oration was "The Civil Duties of the American Scholar," in the delivery of which Mr. Shaw more than vindicated the excellent impression created by his appearance on the previous day. His treatment of this important question was able and comprehensive, and his delivery was effective.

THE HISTORY.

Mr. Durham's statistical and general data, and his personal anecdotes and recollections of the four years' history of the class was fully appreciated by its members, their enjoyment being shared by the audience. The class began with 24 men, since which 8 have been added, and 14 have dropped out, leaving 18. The aggregate age is 393 years; the eldest is 26 and the youngest 19; the average age is 22. The aggregate height is 101 feet, 1 inch; the tallest man is 6 feet, 11 inches; the average height is 5 feet, 8 inches. The aggregate weight of the class is 2694 pounds; the heaviest man weighs 169 pounds and the average weight 148 pounds. The aggregate size of feet is No. 139; the largest is No. 10, and the smallest No. 3. The aggregate size of hat is 127½; the average size is 7⅛. Of moustaches there are 5; "siders," 6; with both, 3; efforts unsuccessful, 5. Not addicted to tobacco, 12; smokers, 3. Of the class 12 intend to be surveyors, 3 in commercial pursuits, 1 lawyer, 1 clergyman, 1 teacher. Politically, 12 are Republicans, 1 is a Democrat and 5 are independent. Religiously, 2 are Baptists, 4 Congregationalists, 2 Methodists, 2 Unitarians, 2 Universalists, 5 have no religious preferences, and 6 are church members. Fifteen favor prohibition, 12 capital punishment, 1 woman's rights, and 5 cremation. In matters of the heart, 6 are engaged, the efforts of 2 have been unsuccessful in this direction, and 18 wish to be married.

POEM, PROPHECY AND PARTING.

The poem by Colesworthy held the attention of the audience, and was appropriate to the occasion. The prophecy by Jordan displayed a keen insight into the character of his fellows, and under a view of humor contained much that was sound and practical. The parting address, by Mr. Moore, contained the usual sentiments of friendship, mingled with regrets at the severing of a life that had been uniformly [illegible], and hopes for a future equally [illegible]

THE CLASS ODE.

[illegible] Bates, was sung by the entire class, with accompaniment by the Band:

Air—Lauriger Horatius

Classmates, e'er our paths divide
From this field of learning,
Which we've traversed side by side,
Strength and knowledge earning

CHORUS

With a will your voices raise,
Cast aside all sorrow;
Let us sing our College days
Heedless of to-morrow.

Happy days a last farewell.
Long will we regret thee,
Fondly here our thoughts will dwell,
Ne'er will we forget thee.

Chorus

Tho' not learned in classic lore,
Trained in Homer's beauties,
What we have we value more,
Looking toward life's duties.

Chorus

Alma Mater, Pine Tree State
Thou art our kind mother,
And, before we separate,
Pledge we one another

GOOD-BYE.

The "Pipe of Peace" was passed around, each taking a few whiffs in turn, and as fifteen of the eighteen are not smokers, the sight was decidedly comical, and as such was fully appreciated by the audience, who encouraged each timid and awkward smoker with a round of cheers. The class then clasped hands and made their last adieux, after which they marched from the hall in single file and the exercises were concluded.

MUSIC BY THE BAND.

Music was furnished by the Bangor Cornet Band in full uniform, who occupied seats in the gallery, vis-a-vis with the stage. The following selections were given.

1. Pot pourri of popular airs, ... Beyer.
2. Mill Polka . . . . Strauss.
3. Serenade, ... [illegible]
4. Solo and Chorus from "Aida," . . . . Verdi
5. Galop Rollicking . . . . [illegible]
6. Auld Lang Syne.

PREVIOUS CLASSES.

The first class, that of '72 graduated six men,—three Civil Engineers and three Bachelors of Science.

The class of '73 had seven members,—four Civil Engineers and three Bachelors of Science.

The class of '74 had but five members—four gentlemen and one lady, with one graduated from the Engineering course and the others taking the degree of B. S.

Of the class of '72, Hammond is civil engineer on one of the New England railroads; Hilliard is in charge of a surveying party for the new line of railroad of which St. Stephen is the eastern terminal point; Weston, recently married, is engaged in experimental farming in this State; Haskell is engaged in silk manufacturing at Saccarappa.

Of the class of '73, Eaton is civil engineer in Providence, R. I.; Hamlin is assistant in the engineering department of the State College; Holt is an architect in Boston; Reed is engaged in the United States Lake Survey, and is at present on the coast of Lake Superior; Scribner is a practical Botanist and Teacher in Natural History.

Of the class of '74, Allen is assistant engineer on the Eastern and Maine Central railroads.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

Yesterday afternoon something like a score of candidates for admission to the College were examined, and from present indications the Freshman class will be fully up to any which has preceded it.

The Class colors and mottoes are as follows: Motto of the class of '75, "Progress," salmon the color; class of '76, "Ultra," color white, class of '77, motto "Unity," wine color; class of '78, color drab.

The membership of the new Senior class is 42, including one lady. Juniors, 30, including three ladies, Sophomore, 28, with one lady.

Several members of previous classes have attended the present commencement, among whom were Haskell and Weston, of '72; Eaton, Hamlin and Oak, of '73; Allen and Ballentyne, of '74.

An attractive feature at the Town Hall was the handsome display of oleanders in profuse bloom at the back of the stage.

"THE NEW EDUCATION."

The graduation oration of Whitman Howard Jordan, of New Gloucester, delivered on Wednesday and specially mentioned yesterday, is so clear and forcible an exposition of "The New Education," that we publish it entire.

The Industrial Education of the nineteenth century is the child of necessity. Conceived in the demands created by the changed conditions of human life and affairs, cradled in the progressive tendencies of the age, nourished by the ripest thoughts of the greatest minds, it has begun a life in our midst whose strength and usefulness will only be measured by the great needs that produced it. It is a departure from the old scholastic style of education, brought about, not by some sudden upheaval of thought, but by the conviction that more intelligence must be directed to those great interests that are stirred by every pulsation of the life-blood of the people.

If we turn to that page of our national history on which the birth of this education is inscribed, we shall find there records that are written in blood. It was during the dark days of the rebellion that Senator Morrill, of Vermont, reported the bill providing for the establishment of Colleges of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts; and while the enemy's cannons were rattling the windows of the Senate House, and the very foundations of the republic were being shaken by the gigantic warfare, this great system of national education was legislated into existence. What but a clear conception of the needs of the people could have induced such a step at such a time! "A scientific instead of a traditional agriculture, a scientific instead of an empirical engineering" had been demanded in no uncertain tones by the voice of passing events.

There were those so completely buried in the past that this voice failed to reach them, and after a lapse of thirteen years, the ignorant, the parsimonious and the bigoted who opposed the passage of this bill, are still waging a bitter warfare against the education it has established. Especially is this so in Maine. False economy is croaking over it in hoarse tones. Ignorance is casting her sickening gloom around it, and the faithless and faulting are trying to destroy it. Science asks that she may perform her mission, but so grudgingly is the consent given, so meanly is she supported in her work that she is shorn of her strength.

The source of this opposition can be traced to a misapprehension on the part of the people. It is not so much a contest with the friends of classical learning as with those ignorant of the past benefits of scientific truth. Science must be popularized. She is the revealer of that law which governs matter and force, and it is only when the book of her revelations is known to be the one according to whose teachings all past improvements have been, and all future improvements must be, made, that this college will become a favored "child of the State."

Ignorance, that all material progress has been scientific in its nature, led to a misconception as to what duties these colleges were to perform. When the people were told of these schools where science was to be applied directly to the industries, they deemed it a new use of knowledge and therefore conceived of wonderful results that were to follow. Young men from the School of Agriculture were to be walking laboratories, thoroughly furnished, to whom the secret needs of the soil would be as the pages of an open book. How absurd the conception and therefore how great the disappointment! These schools will not create an immediate fund of knowledge. They will only systematize that already acquired and open a way for sure and more perfect results in the future. For a time [illegible]

[illegible] ing a direct bearing on agriculture is scattered here and there and exists in no accessible form. This is seen in the absence of text books for the school of agriculture. These colleges have created a demand that will collect this information into an available form. In this way the reliable will soon be distinguished from the unreliable, false theories will be sifted from among the true, and the whole field of industrial science will assume an appearance of order in decided contrast to the confusion now existing.

Education does not benefit agriculture, is an assertion daily proclaimed. This is a fearful edict to go forth against that industry which lies at the foundation of all prosperity, for it makes it the only calling unworthy the attention of a human being. The silent and potent forces of nature are the instruments through whose use the earth must be made to yield her fruitage, and it is a universal rule that good results are only obtained by an intelligent use of means. Then why disparage the noble sciences of botany, chemistry, physiology and the like by saying they are of no use? The ruddy fruit, the bearded grain, the cattle on the hills are silent witnesses to the falsity of the assertion.

It is not a valid objection to say that but few of these graduates apply themselves directly to the industries, even were the statement true. Is an educated man to benefit himself only? Unfortunate indeed will these graduates be if the light coming from a knowledge of nature can only shine in upon their own minds and not illumine the darkness around them. Such a phenomenon would be an anomaly.

Why has the progress of applied science been so slow? Simply because those engaged in the productive industries have not been qualified to note all the conditions of an experiment. The need of men with trained powers of thought and observation is severely felt. If these colleges fail to produce such they will fail of expected and possible results.

There are also the groans of the economist,—and nearly every American is an economist. To his mind nothing seems successful that does not yield returns immediately convertible into gold. It would be absurd to expect these institutions in so few years to produce an amount of material wealth in any degree proportionate to the necessary expenditure, but these returns are sure to come in the future. German faith and German patience have achieved results that are to-day pouring gold into American coffers, but these valuable conclusions bear the mark of expense and of years of steady, patient labor. Are we to win a rightful share in the great conquests of science? If so, then let us not complain if we wait and work as patiently as have our brothers across the ocean.

Narrow-minded men sometimes ask,—Why, in the technical schools, devote so much time to general culture? The express object of this education is to fit young men to successfully prosecute the work of life. As man gropes blindly about in that life-work he is constantly coming in collision with three mighty powers; the power of nature, the power of man, and the power of God. It is not enough that he guide the mighty forces around him into unwonted channels. Man has to contend with social conditions. There is an intellectual force in the world to be met in open contest. The greatest victories within our sphere of action are the conquests of mind. Are we to go into the battle half armed? Then there is our spiritual nature. It is not all of life to live, and a system of education that neglects that higher life is degrading. There is a culture that the human soul panteth after "as the hart panteth after the water brooks." Whatever changes time may work in the curriculum of study in these schools, no less attention should be paid to the study of social and moral conditions.

If the citizens of this and every other State would see this nation assume her rightful place, then let them aid this New Education. The greatest warfare of the nineteenth century is on the fields of industry. Science is the leader in the contest. She is winning greater victories in the heated crucible than does the hero on the hot battlefields with all his enginery of war. Foreign nations are arming for this bloodless conflict. Little Switzerland, poor in raw material, stands among the foremost in the fight, because her technical schools are among the most efficient and most numerous of any nation in the world. The education does exert a powerful influence in the production of values. Especially does America need to employ this factor in the development of her resources. Circumstances point to her as the nation that will not only feed millions within her own confines, but will produce grain for millions across the ocean. This is in her power, but not if the ignorant practice of the arts is continued. There is a time coming when one hundred millions of human beings will crowd the domain of our republic when the tide of human life shall have crowded itself westward until the waters of the Pacific shall roll at the feet of a dense population. There shall be no more fertile prairies to exhaust, and, unless science keeps pace with the necessities, no ships will leave our ports laden with grain, for we shall not have bread enough for ourselves. In that struggle of man with nature we may look for the survival of the fittest who knows nature's secrets and can best avail himself of her resources. Is the education of the past what we need? History answers "no." It is the new, not the old that is rich with promise.

All honor to the noble Senator who rendered his people such a service. The passage of that bill marked an era in the development of our country which the history of the age will not fail to notice, and which will be looked upon as the turning point around which the interests of the nation swung into new life and activity.

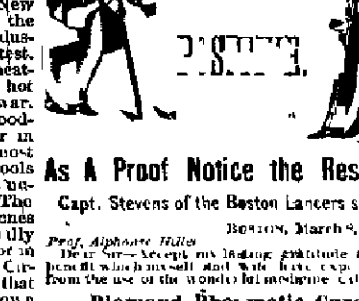
Rheumatism Cured



As A Proof Notice the Results.
Capt. Stevens of the Boston Lancers says
Boston, March 8, 1875.
Prof. Alphonse Hilles
Dear Sir—Accept my lasting gratitude for the benefit which myself and wife have experienced from the use of the wonderful medicine called the
Diamond Rheumatic Cure
For several years past I have been subject to regular attacks of Inflammatory Rheumatism, each succeeding attack much more severe than its predecessor. The last visitation from this terrible scourge lasted three months. The best medical talent in Cambridge was called in, but no relief was experienced. I was so low on several occasions that my recovery was despaired of. When at last I rallied sufficient to discern what was transpiring about me, I learned that my wife was also afflicted with the same fearful disease. A friend, learning of our helpless condition, brought her six bottles of the DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE. By the taking of two doses of this invaluable remedy she was entirely relieved. I then commenced to take it, and rapidly improved until in about a week I was completely restored. Since then I have had another attack and one dose dispelled it. I no longer fear Rheumatism or its painful effects. About two weeks since I recommended it to a friend who was likewise suffering, and the result was a certain cure by the use of one bottle. You can mention my name either publicly, or privately in the interests of mankind. I am willing to be interviewed personally by any one desiring to know the above facts from me; and I feel fully convinced that the thousands who are to day suffering in torments from the effects of Rheumatism and Gout, if they but knew how ready a relief and cure was at hand, would at once resort to this sure and simple remedy, and would bless with thanksgiving of praise the name of the physician who gave to suffering humanity this truly effective remedy—the DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE.
Yours gratefully,
J. J. STEVENS
10 Elm St, Cambridgeport, and Cambridge St Boston
The above testimony ought to convince the most skeptical that a SURE CURE has been discovered in the Diamond Rheumatic Cure.
The proprietor of this medicine has walked the aisles of the hospitals of London and Paris for the last twenty years, making rheumatism a specialty and the prescription from which this remedy is compounded is all he ever used in the treatment of this disease. In simple cases sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic case it is sure to give way by the use of four or five bottles. By this efficient and simple remedy hundreds of dollars are saved to those who can least afford to throw it away, as surely it is by the purchase of useless prescriptions.
Let any sufferer who reads this purchase a small bottle and take it according to the instructions around the package, and it will not take long to convince him that paying doctors' fees is money thrown away—liniments of all kinds are useless.
This medicine is for sale at all Druggists throughout the United States and Canada. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send for it to the wholesale agents,

DAY-DREAMS.

And within the cottage door
Baby plays upon the floor,
While the mother, with her knitting,
On the low door step is sitting,
And the golden summer day
With the twilight slips away

Building castles in the air,
Seeing visions bright and fair,
In that golden land [illegible]
Till the busy hands grow lazy,
And her work [illegible]
'Neath her far-off dreamy eyes

So more toiling day and night,
[illegible] a life so fair and bright
That, without a stint or measure,
She is drinking deep of pleasure,
Of that visionary sphere
Which her dreaming brings so near

She is plucking at her ease
Golden fruits her taste to please,
She is lifted in her [illegible] on
To the far-off bright Elysian,
While the twilight slowly dies,
And gray shadows fill the skies

But hark! that merry shout
[illegible] the night breeze ringing out
Sets the bright air castle falling,
For the father's voice is calling
And the mother's dreams are o'er—
She's the father's wife once more

Back again from marble halls,
Snug within her cottage walls,
Where baby must be tended
And homespun garments mended
So her day dreams thus are done
With the setting of the sun.

MA'S OLD BEAU

The recent revelations concerning deed forgeries at a criminal trial at Chicago have reminded me of an incident that occurred a few years ago, in the vicinity of St. Louis, which seems to me to be worth relating

Clara and Mary Merwin, sisters and orphans, were in the sitting-room of their pleasant home on the edge of a village near the Mississippi Their mother had been dead several years and their father had lately died, leaving them an estate as they supposed of the value of some forty thousand dollars, but they had learned quite recently that the property was encumbered to such an extent that they were likely to be deprived of it all This discovery, as may be supposed filled them with anxiety and they were seated in silence unable to read, to converse, to evoke to do anything but brood over their great misfortune

While they were thus occupied with sombre thoughts a buggy drove up in front of the house and a man alighted, and the buggy drove away

The man must have been on the shady side of fifty to judge from his gray hairs although his face was fresh and unwrinkled He was dressed with remarkable neatness and his manner indicated briskness as well as precision In one hand he carried a small valise and in the other an umbrella, and he stepped quickly to the door and rang the bell In a few minutes he was ushered into the presence of the young ladies

I'm obliged to introduce myself,' he said smiling and bowing in a courtly manner—'Abner Pierce Here is my card—professional card You will perceive that I am a lawyer from St. Louis, and presumable a respectable man. Don't be afraid I am not here to hurt you but to help you I have the honor to call myself a friend of your family—that is to say although many years since I have seen any member of said family I always had the highest possible regard for your sainted mother, and nothing would please me more than to be of some service to her children

'We are happy to meet you murmured Clara.

'Thank you I happened to hear—no matter how—that you are in trouble and have come to [illegible] in the belief that I can assist you I hope you will feel that you can trust me I am actually an honest man although a lawyer and I can well though I may express myself clumsily'

'I am free to admit,' said Clara, that we need assistance and advice and that we have not known to whom to look for it

'Very well It is a good thing no doubt, that I have come Now sit down and tell me all about it'

Clara Merwin who was the elder of the orphans, told the lawyer everything told how she and her sister had taken out letters of administration upon their father's estate which a man of whom they had never before heard [illegible] to appear and presented a mortgage with bonds included executed by the late Mr Merwin upon all his real estate for the sum of forty thousand dollars Not content with prohibiting them from attempting to sell anything, he had tied up their money in bank having them without penniless They had used their little but tradesmen were becoming impatient and some had refused to supply them any farther without pay

'That is a bad case' said Mr Pierce 'You need money—that is the first thing to be attended to You must let me act as your banker until I get you out of this scrape and that won't be long I hope How much do you owe?'

More than a hundred dollars answered Clara.

The old gentleman counted out two hundred dollars from a well filled pocket book and handed it to her

'For your mother's sake' he said, when she tried to refuse it he forced it upon her [illegible] that she could not help [illegible] She then accepted the young ladies' invitation to make their house his home during his stay and went into dinner with them

'Is there any place where I can smoke?' he asked, when they had returned to the sitting-room.

'You can smoke here said the impulsive Mary 'Pa always smoked here and we are used to it'

So he took out a meerschaum and some [illegible] his valise and was soon puffing away with an air of great contentment

'I think better when I smoke' he said 'Did you have any legal advice in the matter of that mortgage Miss Merwin?'

'Yes sir' replied Clara 'Our lawyer said that it was a plain case against us although it was strange that we had never heard of the mortgage before

'Very strange What is the name of the man who holds it?'

Alexander Campbell

Ha! A good name but a bad man I am afraid. Where and when can I see him?

He will be here this afternoon, answered Clara He proposes, if we will make him a deed of the real estate leaving our money in bank and the rest of the personal property'

'Very liberal Introduce me to him, when he comes as an old friend of the family and as a lawyer'

Mr Alexander Campbell called in the course of the afternoon and was made acquainted with Abner Pierce at whom he looked suspiciously, but his eyes fell when he met the old gentleman's piercing gaze. Mr Pierce glanced but slightly at the deed that was offered for consideration of the ladies being occupied in studying the countenance of the man he whose favor it was drawn

'I am deeply upon it just now' he said at first as a friend of these young ladies standing as I may say in loco parentis—I must make a few inquiries concerning the value of this property Suppose you come to supper, Mr Campbell and suppose you bring that mortgage with you I have no doubt it is all correct but would like to see it'

Mr Campbell assented to this, and without Abner Pierce filled his pipe with [illegible] but also with tobacco and Mary brought him a light

I know that you have some good news for us she said, I can see it in your air

Not bad my child. I hope and trust it is very good A good name, but a bad man I said, and that is true. I think I see my way out of this difficulty, and the money that I lent you is safe. But you mustn't interfere with me, young ladies, or be surprised at anything I may say or do, or object to it. You must trust me, and let me work in my own way'

After supper, when Abner Pierce had enjoyed another comfortable smoke, and had conversed with the girls concerning their mother, as he had known her in her youth—a subject upon which he grew quite eloquent—Alexander Campbell came in, bringing the deed and mortgage, both of which he handed to Mr Pierce for examination.

I have made inquiries concerning the property,' said the old gentleman, 'and am satisfied that it is not worth more than the amount of the mortgage, and would probably bring much less if sold at foreclosure. Your offer is a liberal one but I must first look at the mortgage. This appears to be correct,' he continued when he had examined the instrument. 'It is properly acknowledged, and the signature is undoubtedly that of Phillip Merwin. I suppose the ladies will have to go to the county seat to execute the deed.'

The girls countenances fell at this sudden surrender on the part of their champion.

'That reminds me,' said the old lawyer, looking up the mortgage again, 'of an old occurrence that fell under my observation in Tennessee. Not that the two cases are alike, as the Tennessee case was undoubtedly a fraudulent affair; but there was a similarity in the circumstances. Don't look so down-hearted, young ladies. What will be must be, and it is useless to cry about what can't be helped. As I was about to say, a man died in Tennessee, leaving a widow and one daughter. The widow was about to administer upon the estate, when a man who was unknown came forward, and presented a mortgage similar to this, and for exactly the same amount. It was examined by lawyers who were familiar with the signature of the deceased, and pronounced correct. Although there was something strange about the affair, they could find no flaw in the instrument. It was particularly puzzling to one of them, who thought that he had transacted all the law business of the deceased. He got hold of the mortgage, and brought it to me when I was in Nashville. I happened to have in my possession a very powerful magnifying glass that had been presented to me—the most powerful single lens I have ever seen. With this I examined the mortgage, and soon discovered that 'forty' had been raised from 'four.' There was no mistake about it. I could easily see the marks of chemical erasure, and difference in pen and ink, between the raised and the rest of the instrument. How the rascal got into the Register's Office I didn't know, but the record there had been altered in the same manner. He ran away, and it was not considered worth while to follow him Strange circumstance wasn't it Mr Campbell?'

Mr Campbell was fidgeting uneasily in his chair, and made no reply

'Here is the glass' continued the old gentleman, taking it from his pocket 'and you can see for yourself how well it magnifies Now as I look at this 'forty'—why bless me, the same signs are visible that I saw in m, Tennessee mortgage' I think you will be obliged to drop this, Mr Campbell My Tennessee man's name was Alexander Bell, and he has added a Camp to it since he came to Missouri.'

Campbell, his face red as flame, reached out his hand for the document

'I believe I will keep this, Mr Campbell, for fear of accidents. What, do you think you could take it by force? Here is something that shoots five times Going, are you? Very well; I don't think you will be molested, if you leave this part of the country and never return to it It is barely possible that the estate of Phillip Merwin may really owe you four thousand dollars; if so, I advise you not to try to collect the debt, as such an attempt would land you in the penitentiary Good night Mr Campbell, and farewell'

'What is it? What does it mean?' asked Clara, as Mr Pierce rubbing his hands and smiling, bustled about to fill his pipe.

'Are you so dull my child? Why, the fellow is a swindler and has been found out. I guessed as much when I first heard of the affair, and was sure of it when you told me his name You will be able to pay me my two hundred dollars, and then we will straighten up matters. Thank you Mary, you are very kind to give me a light

'Do you mean to punish him?' asked Mary

It would hardly pay We could put him in the penitentiary, but you might lose four thousand dollars by the job By his trying for forty thousand, he has lost the four that might have been justly his due He will be far from here by morning. I have no doubt and good riddance to him Ah! this is comfortable. I know that I feel better, and I hope that you do'

The girls were sure that a great weight had been lifted from their minds and hearts. Alexander Campbell, alias Bell, decamped, but Abner Pierce stayed a week with the orphans during which time he arranged all their affairs satisfactorily, and won their lasting gratitude and love.

'How can we thank you for all you have done for us?' said Clara when he was about to leave

It was for your mother's sake, my child And for her sake If I can ever help you, all I have got is at your service'

Abner Pierce has made visits to the orphans frequently since the event above narrated and they have always had a cordial welcome for 'ma's old beau'

DREARY HOMES —Of all the dreary places deliver us from the dreary farmhouses which so many people call 'home.' Bars for a front gate; chickens wallowing before the door pig-pens elbowing the house in the rear, scraggy trees never cared for, or no trees at all, no flowering shrubs, no neatness, no trimness. And yet a lawn and trees, and a neat walk a pleasant porch and a plain fence in front do not cost a great deal They can be secured, little by little, at odd times, and the expense hardly felt And if ever the time comes when it is best to sell the farm fifty dollars so invested will often bring back five hundred For the men are rare that have money to invest in farms who are not susceptible to pleasant surroundings and the inducement they offer to wife and children.

A Triumph over Humbug.

The constant gain in popularity of the national remedy and preventive Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and the rapid decline of the fermented and nauseous rubbish feebly bolstered up in a false temperance cry, exemplifies a grand triumph of genuine merit over rampant humbug, at which honest folks rejoice. And well they May for each occasion of popularity to a remedy which cures and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, dyspepsia constipation liver complaint, urinary troubles, uterine weakness, and general debility, will leave the field of its beneficent operations and is a real gain to humanity while every falling off in public taste of a pernicious compound power less for good but powerful for evil, is a blessing plain is unmistakable, but for a reason very different Let humbug for once hide its diminished head. Would it were always as unsuccessful as in the present instance.

Bangor, June 4, 1875 e3w

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned administrator of the estate of Levi Lancaster, Jr., late of Maxfield in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration by the sum of two hundred and ninety-nine dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all of the real estate of which said Levi Lancaster, Jr., died seized and possessed, the same being situated in the said town of Maxfield, as by a partial sale of any entire portion thereof, the residue would be greatly depreciated in value, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays and Sundays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. Also open evenings from 7½ to 8½ P. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.
